

TECHNICAL ADVISER
(Electrical Engineer)

Salary: c£30,000

Central Scotland

A varied and interesting role with a well respected and long established trade association.

SELECT was established in 1900 to represent the interests of the electrical contracting industry in Scotland. Here is an opportunity to use your Electrical Engineering qualifications and experience to the full, to be well rewarded and make a valuable contribution to public safety. Our Technical Advisers assess the standard of work of our 1100+ member companies for compliance with BS7671 and other related codes of practice.

The successful candidate will:

- Be qualified to a minimum of HNC in Electrical Engineering or equivalent
- Have considerable experience of electrical installations
- Have a thorough understanding of BS7671:2008 (IET Wiring Regulations)
- Possess corporate membership of a professional organisation such as the IET

This role will involve a considerable amount of interaction with our membership and prospective members. You will be involved in carrying out technical inspections, giving advice and guidance and delivering training courses. The role will suit self motivated engineers with excellent communication and people skills.

There will be travel involved, mainly around the central belt of Scotland, for which a car allowance and mobile phone will be provided. A full clean driving licence is therefore essential.
